PARALLELISM IN SENTENCES

Recast these sentences so that their structure is parallel.

1. The senator's longest speech addressed six major topics and in duration ran for fifty-three minutes.

2. The goals of the Starship Enterprise in the TV show Star Trek were to explore new worlds, to seek out new life and new civilizations, and also go where no man has gone before.

3. I like shooting baskets in the early morning and to run three miles in the late afternoon.

4. A customized daily therapy program includes creating monthly personal goals, establishing realistic accountability, and to self-evaluate one's own progress.

5. Kurt Vonnegut's Slaughter-house Five and John Updike's Rabbit, Run are, respectively, examples of experimental and mainstream American fiction.