CONCISENESS

Make the following sentences more concise.

1. A huge chance is taken by bartenders when they choose not to card college students who are attractive.

2. The kind of car we were hoping to find was the sort of car that would get at least thirty miles per gallon driving on the highway.

3. The success of the plan depends on one major factor: funding, funding, funding!

4. The Boston massacre was a massacre that took place in 1770; it resulted in the deaths of five civilians.

5. From the Jet Blue airliner, flying in the air over the harbor, we saw the Spring Point Harbor lighthouse, then the sparkling lights of SMCC.

6. The Soviet Union, also known as the USSR, dominated American foreign policy thinking for over forty years.

7. It was hard for the student to think of an assignment more difficult than reading and comprehending Gravity's Rainbow, by Thomas Pynchon.

8. The purpose of Piaget's conservation of number experiment, which was devised by Jean Piaget, is to discover whether a child is aware of the fact that the number of objects in a row remains the same when the distance between the objects has changed.

9. Many students who majored in liberal studies transferred to the nearby university.

10. Murphy's Law is a law that states, "If anything can go wrong, it will."